Today's consumers are concerned about health and wellness and are looking for better-for-you options. As a result, whole grain products are more and more in demand, as research has shown that consuming whole grain foods can have beneficial health benefits. The 2005 U.S. Dietary Guidelines recommend at least 3 servings of whole grains every day and BakeMark is proud to feature the Whole Grains Council's stamp on our Westco Whole Grain Donut Mixes, which certifies at least 8g or more of whole grains per serving. We know your customers will appreciate the joy of donuts and whole grain goodness.
